Sewickley Academy Yearbook
Volume XXIII

Sewickley Academy
Sewickley, Pennsylvania

As another year goes by, we take an objective look at the growth and changes that have occurred. Over the summer we fenced the bell, we painted the curbs, we replaced trees and replanted the fields. An unfortunate attack by vandals necessitated the installation of an alarm system. But the most obvious change was the leveling of the ground for two new tennis courts; for weeks we listened to the roar of trucks, bulldozers, and rollers.

In this book we have used the game of tennis as symbolic of this year at our school. The faculty are the professionals in this game of education, while we students are mere players. However, we are the ones who swing the racquet, smash the ball, and must learn the fine points through determination and competition.

Here are our pros

After twenty-one years as a renowned member of Sewickley Academy's Board of Trustees, Mr. G. Whitney Snyder has retired. He was elected to the Board on April 28, 1958 and three years later was chosen Vice-chairman. From 1963 until April 1979, he served as Chairman of the Board.

Over these years of leadership, Mr. Snyder has shown a constant dedication to our school. He gave unstintingly of his time because his "heart was in the work". With a prevailing confidence in the faculty and professional administrators, he supported their efforts to grow and adapt to our changing world. In times of tragedy — our fire for instance — and of need, he initiated extensive and successful fund raising campaigns. Because of Mr. Snyder's energy and motivation, Sewickley Academy has at this time an improved physical plant and an enviable educational and financial status. We are grateful! We know that his devotion to this community and his pride in Sewickley Academy will not end with his retirement as Chairman of our Board of Trustees.

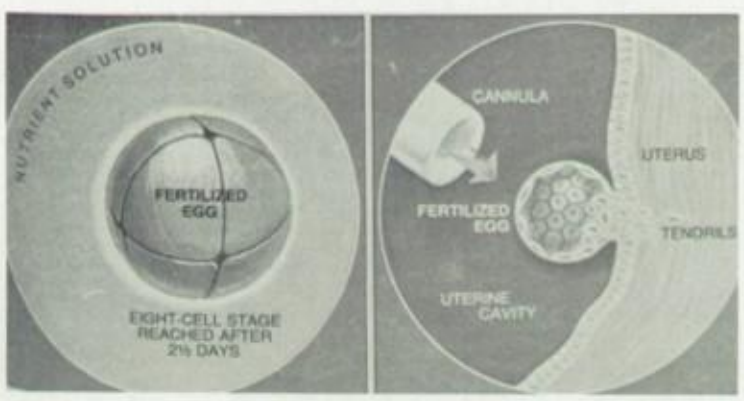
The way the ball bounced

International Affairs

Princess Caroline married Phillippe Junot, and Lisa Halaby married King Hussein in June, the biggest social events in 1978. Oil spills blackened many coasts around the world during the summer months, and Begin, Sadat and Carter worked toward a "lasting peace" for the MidEast countries. A few months later the world was shocked by the atrocities in Jonestown, a communist cell founded by Rev. Jim Jones, where more than 900 people of his People's Temple committed suicide. Teng Hsiaoping was hailed as the man of the year by both Newsweek and Time when he opened the Middle Kingdom to the world. Social unrest finally led to the ousting of the Iranian Shah, who flew the coup in February, making room for Shite religious leader, Ayatollah Khomeini.



Famous Firsts

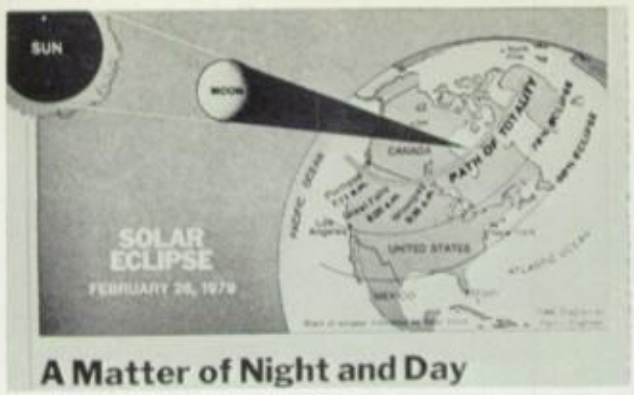
This year was a big one for "firsts." In July Louise Brown thrilled Britain and the world by becoming the first successful test tube baby. Shortly thereafter, Double Eagle II, the first hot air balloon to cross the Atlantic safely, touched down in Normandy, France. The debate over women's portraits being minted on coins continued, and Diana Nyad attempted to swim from Cuba to Key West, Florida. She had built for her a metal cage in which she swam through the shark-infested waters of the 103-mile stretch. Diana gave up, however, after only seventy-one miles and forty-one hours because of the heavy seas, stinging jellyfish, and trouble her crew had keeping her on course.

Rome was in a tizzy throughout August and September — Pope Paul VI's death led to the election of John Paul I, who died forty-three days later. John Paul II, elected in record time, is the first non-Italian pope in over 400 years; he was born in Poland.

Many big cities were buried in snow; Chicago had it all winter long (as much as thrity-one inches in one blizzard, with twelve-foot drifts), and Washington, D.C. got it one weekend — twenty-two inches paralyzed the capital for two days in mid-February. It was the first time they'd had that much snow in fifty years.

In early March, the spaceship Voyager I transmitted photographs from Jupiter, 579 million miles away, of a previously unknown ring around that planet, as well as two newly discovered moons and active volcanoes on the moon Io. Meanwhile Pioneer Venus I, the Orbiter, is probing the atmosphere and surface of Venus.

One final note — the last total solar eclipse took place on February 26, 1979, — the last, that is, to be seen in the United States until 2017.



A Matter of Night and Day

National Affairs

The New York Times went on strike in August for a three-month period. The dollar went up and down (mostly down) throughout the fall, while the Japanese yen went up and up.

Howard Jarvis, 76, exulted in his successful California antitax crusade, Proposition 13, and promised to carry the tax revolt eastward across the nation.

Albert Einstein was honored on what would have been his 100th birthday with a commemorative U.S. fifteen-cent stamp; this year also marked the centennial of Will Rogers' birth.

Lobbyists fought for an extention on the ERA Amendment in October and won. States who wanted to rescind their votes, however, were not permitted to do so.

Hollywood had some box-office hits — "Animal House," the story of a college fraternity house and their shenanigans, "Grease," with John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John, and "Superman, based on the television series of the 1950's. Pittsburgh's claim to film fame (?) was "The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh."

Several Americans who were legends in their own times died this year: Margaret Mead, the noted anthropologist, and Norman Rockwell, who painted Americans as they wanted to see themselves, died late in '78. Nelson Rockefeller III, New York's 4-term governor and U.S. vice-president under Gerald Ford, died late in February.

As the snow melted, potholes reappeared (as they do each year in Pittsburgh) and the new governor, Dick Thornburgh, requested multi-millions for an emergency repair program.

Athletics

Stevie Cauthen and Affirmed raced to the Triple Crown; soon afterward though, Stevie slowed down and lost over 100 races consecutively. Nancy Lopez became the new sensation in women's golf, while Pete Rose played toward a $3.5 million, three-year contract with the Philadelphia Phillies, and Reggie Jackson was voted MVP of the World Series.

Pittsburgh's super Steelers had an unprecedented third Super Bowl victory, this time over the Dallas Cowboys; Terry Bradshaw threw for a new record of four touchdown passes to become the MVP. Chuck Noll's comments on the 35-31 Steeler win? "We haven't peaked yet!"

— Margaret Minnock

"God send him well! The court's a learning place."
Shakespeare, "All's Well That Ends Well"

We Thank

Our advisors, Mrs. Inglefield, Mr. Smart, and Mr. Wardrop, in spite of whom we managed to put together this book.

Our professional photographer, Mr. Vogan, for his skill in eliminating our flaws.

Mr. Tim Ward, our Hunter rep, for staying out of our way when we were busy.

Mr. Joel Steinberg for the big bonfire on pages 146-147.

Mr. Symons, Amy Simmons, Greg Nicotero, the staffs of The Sweetwater Chronicle and The Seventh Pillar — whom we might have listed as our photographers but didn't.

Rody Halcomb, Charles Baltic, Troy Appleton and John Weingartz, without whose brainwaves our sports pages would have sunk.

Maude, Bernie, and Darlene, who managed our muddled money matters.

All the sellers in our patrons contest who didn't win.

Our many advertisers, parents, and friends, who saved us from bankruptcy.
